ハンジョリーVC30セラム

ビタミンC誘導体高配合美容液

20ml

Through the use of non-oxidized 30% high-concentration vitamin C inducing agent, it is more effective in combating skin dullness, pore issues, and dryness."

POINT

From firming, refining, and combating dullness, pores, to dryness, comprehensively and thoroughly address various skin concerns.

To address skin concerns such as melanin deposits that contribute to the appearance of aging, pigmentation issues, enlarged and rough pores, as well as dryness, we place the utmost importance on incorporating ingredients such as Vitamin C inducers, hyaluronic acid, polysaccharides, and collagen in professional settings like beauty salons. Additionally, we have included ingredients sourced from Hokkaido, such as honey and white birch sap, to synergistically enhance moisturizing capabilities. This results in clearer, smoother skin that radiates a transparent and radiant beauty.

After approximately 6 months of using HANJOLIE VC30 Essence, changes in the cheeks.

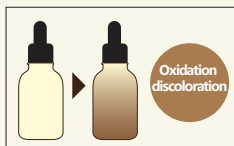

※This is the result after approximately 6 months of using HANJOLIE VC30 Essence (according to our own survey).

Despite its high concentration, it is resistant to oxidation! A moisturizing type of vitamin C inducer.

Unlike regular vitamin C, we utilize a "moisturizing type of vitamin C inducer (ascorbyl palmitate※3)" that is less prone to discoloration or degradation due to oxidation. Even with a high content of 30% vitamin C inducer, it can be easily stored at room temperature and maintains its freshness for an extended period after opening. This has resulted in an unprecedented beauty essence.

Regular vitamin C solution

Susceptible to oxidation, deterioration, and the generation of pigmented components.

HANJOLIE VC30 Essence

Containing 30% ascorbyl dipalmitate ※3, HANJOLIE VC30 Essence is resistant to oxidation, allowing it to penetrate the skin in a stable state.

※1: Caused by accumulation of dead skin cells and dryness ※2: Moisturizing ingredients ※3: Comprehensive skin moisturizing ingredient
